

Communication®

THEME DESCRIPTION

You like to explain, to describe, to host, to speak in public and to write. This is your Communication theme at work. Ideas are a dry beginning. Events are static. You feel a need to bring them to life, to energize them, to make them exciting and vivid. And so you turn events into stories and practice telling them. You take the dry idea and enliven it with images and examples and metaphors. You believe that most people have a very short attention span. They are bombarded by information, but very little of it survives. You want your information — whether an idea, an event, a product’s features and benefits, a discovery, or a lesson — to survive. You want to divert their attention toward you and then capture it, lock it in. This is what drives your hunt for the perfect phrase. This is what draws you toward dramatic words and powerful word combinations. This is why people like to listen to you. Your word pictures pique their interest, sharpen their world and inspire them to act.

POWER AND EDGE

People with strong Communication talents bring attention and focus to important messages. They can find words for not only their own thoughts and feelings, but also for those of others. This gives them the ability to reach out and connect with others in meaningful ways.

ACTION ITEMS

- You will always do well in roles in which you are paid to capture people’s attention. Your strengths will probably flourish in teaching, sales, marketing, ministry or the media.
- You excel at capturing people’s attention. Keep your best stories in mind and practice telling them so you’ll get better each time.
- Use your Communication talents to help others put their ideas or feelings into words.
- Start a collection of stories or phrases that resonate with you. For example, cut out magazine articles that move you or write down powerful word combinations.
- Practice telling these stories or saying these words to yourself out loud. Listen to yourself actually saying the words. Refine.
- When you are presenting, listen closely to your audience. Watch their reactions to each part of your presentation. You will see that some parts prove especially engaging. After the presentation, take time to identify the parts that particularly caught the audience’s attention. Re-draft your next presentations around these highlights.
- Volunteer for opportunities to present. You can become known as someone who helps people express their thoughts and ambitions in a captivating way.
